THE ELECTION.

Election day is here. Its issues are momentous. It is safe to say that the result of the election is determined already, and merely needs to be made public by official count. The singular feature of the present campaign has been its freedom from personal abuse of the candidates, and the absence of the usual torchlight and hurrah element. The discussion has generally been confined to the main issues and on a high

From a battle practically confined to the four States of New York, Indiana New Jersey and Connecticut in 1888, the fight has spread over twenty States, and election day finds two-thirds of the twenty still doubtful, although their tendency in one direction or another is generally pronounced enough to hazard a prediction. THE TIMES has endeavored to be guided in its forecasts by the most reliable indications obtained from nonpartisan sources. In doing this it has possibly caused offence to some narrowminded individuals on both sides whose own particular shade of spectacles have made the outlook blue or rosy as the case might be. But that is the expected lot of an independent paper and the surest proof of its independence.

To sum up again the outlook: It looks Democratic with enough of an element of doubt to render uncertain whether Cleveland will obtain a majority of the electoral votes. It seems to us highly improbable that President Harrison can be re-elected. We are convinced that he will lose so many votes to the Populists west of the Mississippi that only a clean sweep of the so called pivotal States of the East could save him, and that is practically out of the range of probability.

If Cleveland and Stevenson are elected to-day the next House will be safely Democratic over both Republicans and Populists. If the election goes to Harrison and Reid the Third party will be apt to hold the balance of power. We do not see a clear Republican majority in the House under any circumstances. The Democrats stand reasonably sure to gain four Senators, and may be able to secure control of the Senate by coalition with the few Alliance-Populist-silver Senators and such liberal Republicans as Teller, Walcott, Jones and Washburn.

One thing our readers must prepare for and that is inability to decide the result of the election Wednesday morning. If, as indications point, the voting is close in the pivotal States the result may be in doubt for forty-eight hours or longer. Delay in ascertaining the result is the one serious defect of the Australian ballot.

"The Dazzler" To-night.

It is a time-worn saying that those who make the world laugh are public benefactors. If this is true, then the company that will appear at the Academy to-night may be truly regarded as full-fledged philanthropists. Cosgrove and Grant's comedians have already toured the country two seasons in the merry skit called "The Dazzler." They began by winning the strongest kind of metropolitan favor both from the public and the critics, and wherever they have appeared since this judgment has been duplicated. The house will be kept open all night and the election returns "The Dazzler" To-night. open all night and the election returns displayed

THE R. M. C. A.

The Final Meetings Were Held in Various Churches Sunday.

The R. M. C. A. held their final meetings in the churches on Sunday. They were well attended, great interest being manifested by the railroad men and the public generally. The 9 a. m. consecration service at the Greene-Memorial Church was led by R. E. Michaels, of Richmond. At 2 p. m. an interesting service was held at the West End round house, conducted by General Secretary H. J. At 4 p. m. another meeting was held for boys, led by W. R. Haight, assistant State secretary of Virginia. At 7 p. m. a platform meeting was held at the Greene-Memorial Church, led by H. O. Williams, State secretary.

A farewell service was held at 9 o'clock conducted by C. E. Hulbert, of Pittsburg, State secretary of Pennsylvania. A collection was taken up for the benefit of the local association, which amounted to more than Si00. The Bluefied, Radford and part of the Altoona delegations left for their homes on Sunday night. The rest left on an excursion to Richmond, througn the kindness of the Norfolk and Western officials, returning Tuesday morning.

They will leave for their homes at 12:45. The State convention will be held in Norfotk some time in March.

MEETING OF THE FIRE BOARD.

The Alert Fire Company Admitted to Membership in the Department.

A meeting of the fire board was held last night in the parlor of the Vigilant Fire Company building. John Engleby presided.

The committee appointed to report on the repairing of the old fire engine re-ported that it would be too costly, and it was decided to recommend to Council that a new fire engine be purchased and placed in the Third ward.

A communication was received from the Alert Fire Company requesting to be admitted to the fire department.

They asked for the use of a reel and 500 feet of hose and stated that they would huild a house and hear the wither exbuild a house and bear the other expenses toward the maintenance of the company. They were admitted to the fire department and assigned as company any number for the company of the compa fire department and assigned as com-pany number four.

A letter was received from Vice-President and General Manager Joseph H. Sands, of the Norfolk and Western railroad, complimenting the Roanoke boys for carrying away the honors at the recent convention at Chaolottsville.

A FAREWELL TESTIMONIAL.

The Bachelors' Club Tenders a Pleasant Reception to Mr. A. J. Coffin.

The Bachelors' Club was the scene of a very pleasant informal gathering last night, the occasion being a farewell testimonial to A. J. Coffin, who leaves this week for Richmond to open a branch office of the Cushman Iron Com pany. Dancing and whist were indulged in and a very enjoyable time was spent by all.

Among those present were the Misses Hallie Hutter and Jennie Rogers, of Lynchburg; Mattie Terry, Lulu Terry, Hattie Flint, Boyer, Humbert, Blair, Hanford, Mrs. James, Mrs. A. D. Rice and Messrs, J. D. Lazelle, A. J. Coffin, E. C. Watts, W. C. Nolan, N. A. James, John Payne, Archie Payne, L. R. Sollenberger and Phil Norvelle.

The Meeting Postponed.

The regular monthly meeting of the executive committee of the board of liomestead strikers' ranks this morning but it failed to materialize. Some four or five strikers returned to work this morning. The great strike is now over four months old and an authority asserted that only pixty-four strikers have so far accepted the company's terms. In the meantime, though, the mill management has secured about 2,700 workmen elsewhere who are sticking. Altomen elsewhere who are sticking. Alto-gether the company must have hired 5,000 men, but for quite a while nearly as many left or where discharged as they came in.
